Instructions (video instructions here)

1. Color and cut out pieces.
2. Glue two sides of the head together.
3. Attach nose and neck to the head.
4. Glue wings, tail, and neck to the body.
5. Glue two sides of the belly together.
6. Punch holes at the base of the head, base of the tale, and on each wing, where the circles are.
7. Cut 4 pieces of yarn. Make them a good length and you can adjust and trim as needed once it's time to attach them to the cardboard. Tie a piece of string to each wing.
8. For the head and tale, thread the yarn through the hole and then tape it to the underside of the dragon.

9. For the head and tale, thread the yarn through the hole and then tape it to the underside of the dragon.
10. Cut out two strips from strong cardboard, one slightly shorter than the other. Mine were 11 inches long (for the head and tail strings) and 12 inches long (for the wing strings). Punch a hole near the end of each one.
11. Attach the strings from your dragon to the cardboard using the shorter piece for the head and tail, then the longer piece for the wings. Adjust the lengths of your string as needed until you're happy with how the dragon hangs from the cardboard.
